JAMES BASS, headwaiter at the Central, lost a two-year old daughter Sunday night.

W. H. FREDERICK is preparing to build a handsome modern residence on the lot recently purchased from John Duley in the Sixth Ward.

A MARRIAGE LICENSE was issued yesterday to John L. Ladenburger of Dover and Miss Julia Peck of Minerva. The wedding will take place tomorrow at the St. Charles Hotel.

CAPTAIN D. W. SUREN, General Freight and Passenger Agent of the Big Sandy Packet Company, will resign March 1st and engage in the hotel business at Ashland.

The marriage of Miss Margaret Finch of this city to Dr. Archibald Church of Chicago will occur tomorrow at the home of the bride's mother, corner Third and Sutton streets.

ANTHONY L. HENSON, commercial journeyman for the Keith-Schroeder Company, recently drove seventy-six miles in eleven hours, besides "doing" all the stores in Wamsley's.

At the meeting last night at Sedden's M. E. Church there were eight at the altar, four conversions, two united with the church and nine asking for the prayers of the church. God's power was wonderfully felt. Meeting every evening this week.

WALKER REED, charged with the murder of the colored man named Warner, was arraigned before Judge Phister yesterday morning and his trial postponed until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Reed was committed to jail to await trial.

The Grand View Hotel was yesterday sold by M. E. McKellip to F. L. Mullikin of Sardis, and that gentleman will take charge of it in a few days. The property is a good one, and Mr. Mullikin being experienced will no doubt please his patrons.

The Bramey will was still in progress in the Circuit Court yesterday. At noon the witnesses were all examined, and an adjournment was taken until this morning, when the arguments in the case will begin. It will probably go to the jury some time tomorrow.

THE LEADER will begin the publication of a weekly edition April 1st, assuming the old name, Maysville Republican. It will be an eight-page paper, at the low price of $1.50 a year, strictly in advance. No paper will be sent beyond the time paid for. Subscriptions can be sent in now, to begin April 1st.

The great revival at Mitchell's Chapel was resumed last night. God's power was made manifest and there were two conversions. The audience was large and attentive. Professor Fogg and Rev. L. Robinson seem much strengthened from their rest and say they have entered for a siege. Rev. N. G. Robinson, formerly of the West Virginia Conference, has been called to assist.

Mrs. L. F. WILLIAMS died at her home near Lewisburg Saturday morning at 8 o'clock after severe suffering for months with cancer. She leaves a husband, two daughters and one son to mourn her loss. Funeral services were held at the Lewisburg Baptist Church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, after which she was laid to rest in the Lewisburg Burying-ground.

I. GREENSTEIN on Sunday night about 12 o'clock ordered several fire robbers' police' etc., until Officer Purcell came to his rescue. A search was made of the building, back yard, and then the roof. Mr. Greenstein was sure he heard a noise which resembled burglars. The bold intruder was captured on the roof hiding behind a chimney. It was not arrested as Mason County Courts have no authority to sentence cases.

T. P. FLORENCE of Cynthia and Miss Mollie Barnes of Clayville arrived in this city about 3 o'clock yesterday morning, having driven from Cynthia. They were directly to the Central Hotel where Officer Purcell was, and when they met him they quickly told that they should come to this city to be married and wanted to see the proper party to perform such a ceremony as soon as possible. County Clerk Pearce was sent for, and before daylight the couple were made man and wife. They were both well known to the clerk, and why they should take such steps to marriage is as yet a mystery. The bride had the written consent of her mother.

A RUN ON THE BANK.

HOW ABOUT THE DAILY BALANCE OF NERVOUS ENERGY?

From January to May a Serious Period—The Necessity of a True Food for the Nerves and Blood—What Paine's Celery Compound Has Done—The Case of Mr. Glaze.

From January until May there is a fearful demand made on one's stock of health—fevers, pulmonary troubles and the host of cold weather ills quickly bring down the vitality and expend the nervous force.

Those with an insufficient reserve of vigor and nervous energy fall winter victims to contagious diseases and to special diseases of liver, stomach and kidneys. These important organs, whose duty it is to feed the tissues and keep the blood pure, feel the lack of nervous energy quickest. They require more nerve force than other parts of the body. The result is a breakdown in heart, lungs, kidneys, liver or brain.

The different organs of the body select from the food the nourishment appropriate to them. Paine's Celery Compound is especially prepared to furnish at once abundant nutrition to badly fed nerves and impoverished blood.

Every one should profit by the experience of Thomas Glaze of Pittsburgh, Pa., who says:

"I was taken with the dropsy about one year ago in the feet and legs, and took several medicines, but without benefit until I tried Paine's Celery Compound. I felt better soon after taking it, and do not have any trouble from the dropsy now."

Tinkering With the Laws Governing Fourth Class Cities.

The bill of amendments to fourth class charters, which will probably become a law, changes the time of assessment to April 1st and makes the taxes due July 1st.

It provides a plan by which new territory may be taken into the city limits, or a part stricken off, the Circuit Judge to decide as to the wisdom of the act.

It is left optional with the City Council as to whether a Board of Public Works shall be appointed or not, and whether a City Collector or the Treasurer shall collect the taxes.

W. C. P. BRECKINRIDGE

SOME PLAIN OPINIONS OF THE CONGRESSMAN'S CONDUCT.

He Has Damaged His Case Beyond All Hope of Repair—His Hypocrisy Fully Revealed.

THE LEADER has purposely refrained from printing the nasty details of the Pollard-Breckinridge case; but it is due to the memory of an honored Kentuckian that his name be rescued from the odium sought to be cast upon it by the Breckinridge side.

Space is given, therefore, to the following matter bearing upon the charge that the late Colonel A. M. Swope was guilty of illicit relations with Miss Pollard.

Elizabeth Jones—If Congressman Breckinridge succeeds in proving that Madeline Pollard was a very bad and immoral woman, what will the people think of him as introducing such a character to Mrs. Blackburn, one finest ladies of the state, as his affianced wife?

The Stanford Journal, one of the most reputable papers in Kentucky, says:

Colonel Breckinridge may succeed in proving that Madeline Pollard was a very bad woman, but the fact remains that he introduced her to Mrs. Luke Blackburn as his affianced and beautiful grace in her behalf, to which Mrs. B. testified, with much indignation over the turn of events.

She says that the occasion there were demonstrations in her presence admissible only to engaged lovers. He called her Madeline and she sweetly cooed "Willie" whenever she addressed him. The defendant must have known that manner of woman he was introducing to Mrs. Blackburn, or if he didn't he might have retained the respect of an injured woman by still saying he believed her the woman he told Mrs. Blackburn she was. It looks very much like Miss Pollard has made out her case against the Dr. Jekyll-Mr. Hyde Congressman, and that he ought at least to spare the dead and cause to open the closets in which skeletons are kept, merely to get the amount of damages reduced.

If Pollard is double-crossed by a designing woman, but she is not half as bad as the Colonel, who wears the livery of Heaven, and monkeys as a great church man, while inwardly he is shown to be a raving wolf. The defendant's winking her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Welsh, and the people hate hypocrisy and despise a man who attempts to sail under false colors.

A special from Danville to The Louisville Times says:

William M. Swope of Lexington was here last night, and in connection with his brother James H. Swope of this city was giving a thorough investigation of Dr. Lewis's deposition in the Pollard-Breckinridge suit, in which the physician connected the name of their brother, the late Hon. A. M. Swope, with the case in a disgraceful manner, the details of which are familiar to the public.

James Swope said this morning that he did not know exactly what statement would be taken in the matter, but that they were in possession of facts which made it impossible for the circumstances related by Dr. Lewis to have taken place. He characterizes the state of his sister, which took place in this county in the fall of 1885 and admitted to Dr. Lewis that "the child I had in the middle of December, when Colonel Swope came to his house in December, but remained only over night, and he is positive that he did not during that time see Dr. Lewis at all."

He says further that it is singular that his correspondence recent taking and question of a criminal operation with Dr. Lewis upon a public street in this city. The fact is that Dr. Lewis is a very deaf and that it is impossible for anyone to carry on a conversation with him except in a loud tone of voice at that time see Dr. Lewis at all.

He says further that it is singular that his correspondence recent taking and question of a criminal operation with Dr. Lewis upon a public street in this city. The fact is that Dr. Lewis is a very deaf and that it is impossible for anyone to carry on a conversation with him except in a loud tone of voice at that time see Dr. Lewis at all.

It is evident that but for Dr. Lewis's age the brothers would call him to personal account. He has been sick since consulting lawyers. Dr. Lewis has here yesterday evening advising with his lawyers, informing them that he believed the Swope's intended to sue him for heavy damages.

A telegram from Washington to The Cincinnati Gazette says:

The Pollard-Breckinridge case is attracting a great deal of attention here, and is subject of profound and earnest discussion.

The course of the defense in entering the newspapers with their testimony and claim is unfavorable to the defendant.

A lawyer of nearly forty years experience discussed in the presence of your correspondents the recent taking and publishing of the deposition of the old Kentucky doctor.

The deposition and its publication has, perhaps, done more to prejudice public sentiment here against the defendant than any one act.

Said the lawyer:

"Here is a plain, available abuse of the process of law. It is a gross violation of the rules of taking testimony to be read on the trial of the case, the defendant is informed that he is to be examined to the level of the scandal mongers. This testimony of the old doctor borders close upon the line of infamy. By the statutes of every civilized state almost on earth he was protected and disqualified to testify. He was the physician. He received, or pretended to have received, the confession or an admission of a person employing him in his profession. He was bound to reserve inviolate the confidence of his patient. But this is unimportant compared with the further consideration that the testimony is wholly incompetent."

It is hearsay evidence. It is the unsworn statement of a dead man, communicated by a living man, and there is not one lawyer living, capable of passing a most rudimentary examination, who does not know that this testimony is absolutely incompetent.

It is neither competent in chief to make out the defense, if he has one, nor is it competent to impeach the credibility or good character of the plaintiff. It is a mere piece of vile scandal—a scandal of the lowest order—and yet counsel for a great Congressman dares to take this testimony and publish it to the world.

It is a plain abuse of the authority of the Court. There ought to be some remedy for conduct like this. Denotations subject to the decision of the Trial Court or Judge ought to be taken in secret, and then suppressed by the order of the Court. Evil conveyed in this way, as in this case, merely scandalous, should be prevented. Why was this step taken by the defense?

The question with which this lawyer ends his statement is on everybody's tongue, and that in this community a severe criticism has grown out of the taking and publishing of this testimony cannot be doubted.

To assuage the memory, character and reputation of Colonel A. M. Swope, lying peacefully in his grave, writhing in his bloody shroud, to take this testimony and publish it almost unparalleled.

COLONEL WILLIAMS

Coming to the Front as a gubernatorial Candidate.

There's a new man in the field of gubernatorial possibilities on the Republican ticket in Ohio. He is Colonel L. H. Williams of Ripley. A growing boom has been started for him by his friends and the newspapers throughout the state are giving it considerable encouragement.

The Colonel is the present Department Commander of the G. A. R. of Ohio, and two years ago was a Grand Chancellor of the Ohio K. of P.

Few men are better known throughout the state and this is popularly testified by the honors that have been conferred upon him.

In politics he has always been a shrewd and earnest worker.

The Colonel lives in a prairie home, and his wife is a lady, while his two daughters, Myrl, are charming society circles. Very soon time ago received of a West Point Cadet at home to assist him in his wife's duties.

If the Colonel takes the gubernatorial ticket he will make it his other aspirants.

AN INTERNATIONAL HYMN.

My country 'tis of thee,
Sweet land of liberty,
Of thee I sing.

Land where the wheels are tied,
Land where industries died,
And to the English side,
Took rapid wing.

My native country, thee,
Land to which paupers flee,
Thy name I love!

I love thy Cleveland hills,
Thy no-trade Tariff walls,
Thy Greshams, Smiths and Mills,
Born from above.

Let music swell the breeze!
Democratize to your knees
And swell the song!

Let those who brought this fate
Their medicine take straight
And three years longer wait
To right the wrong.

Our father, Grover C.
Mogul of misery,
To thee, we sing!

Dear with us if you can:
But, if not, like a man
Say you don't care a dam
For anything.

AMONG the recent decisions of the Court of Appeals of Kentucky, and a decision that is important to banks, is that if a bank lends a corporation or any incorporated firm more than its recorded articles empower it to borrow it does so at its own risk, and if the corporation should become insolvent or make an assignment the bank's claim will only be allowed for the amount the corporation was entitled to borrow by its published articles.
